Newsletter

Dear Parents & Carers.

It's been another fulfilling week at Newburgh. Team Halton spent an afternoon in our new 'Investigation Station', Team Nursery have been making symmetrical butterfly art and Team Rigby made the 'Tree Champion'. Meanwhile in Team Lucas the children have been carrying out science experiments to see how clean their hands are. Team Crane have been considering whether schools should all have libraries and while they are unable to use our school library, they have created a Friendship Library for which children bring books from home to swap with their friends. Team Venables have been working on some stunning self portraits. Well done everyone.

It's that time of the year when the weather doesn't know what to do with itself. As we are trying to be outside as much as possible children are likely to need everything from warm clothes to sun hats at the moment!

There's still time for schoolchildren to enter the Royal Mail Stamp competition. We've had some wonderful entries already – thank you to those who have participated. If you would like to take part, please send designs in to school by Monday 24th May. Top Design Tips are at the end of this Newsletter.

Warmest Regards,

Literacy Day Pyjamarama

Don't forget on Friday we're taking part in The Book Trust Pyjamarama day. Children can come to school in their pyjamas with their favourite story to share with their friends. We will be setting our summer reading challenges for children both for over the summer term and for the summer holidays.
